

OSDS OCCUPATIONAL SUPPLY DEMAND SYSTEM

The Occupational Supply Demand System provides information and resources that will assist with the analysis and discussion of supply and demand issues relevant to today's labor market.

The Supply Demand data are organized by Units of Analysis -- groups of related occupations and training programs. Choose one of four ways to access a Unit of Analysis that contains the Supply and Demand information.

- Units of Analysis Units of Analysis codes and titles
- Programs of Study and Training Classification of Instructional Program (CIP) codes and titles
- Occupations Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) codes and titles
 Wage Trends, Fastest Growing, and Most Openings
- Career Clusters Career Clusters and related Pathways
